"The cement industry is currently required to be able to produce eco-friendly and efficient products," said Subhan in a press release, Tuesday (19/01).

To compete amid global demands and trends in the cement industry in the future, Subhan continued, Semen Gresik had excellent advantages: an innovative concept, technological sophistication, and excellent environmental sustainability operations to meet the demand for green-labeled cement product.

Subhan believed that these three capitals and the strong internal commitment would enable Semen Gresik to face and overcome the various challenges. "Therefore, the company can still win the competition and become an important part of supporting the strategic performance of the SIG Group as well as becoming the leader in the national and regional cement industry," said Subhan.
